

Show Dog Contract

- Show prospect means that said dog has no disqualifying faults or features under either the breed standard or the show rules of the American Kennel Club, as the date of this sale. Said dog is in no way guaranteed to win in the show ring, but should be capable of competing with other dogs of its particular breed and age, provided that said dog is properly conditioned, competently handled, (being either breeder, owner, seller, or professional handler), and is exhibited a sufficient number of times. It is understood that with proper care on the part of the buyer, in due time (given to at least 24 months of age), said dog should be of acceptable temperament and structure, and should embody the basic standards of the breed.

Said dog is sold on a show prospect contract and buyer agrees to and shall make a reasonable effort to obtain an AKC Championship by seeing that dog is properly conditioned, competently handled, and exhibited in a minimum of at least 10 shows, once buyer and seller agree said dog is indeed show quality. If dog is deemed unworthy of attaining an AKC Championship, by developing serious show faults, buyer has the option to return said dog for a replacement dog.

A co-ownership will be maintained on said dog until an AKC Championship is awarded. Seller agrees to sign off as co-owner after receiving from buyer a duplicate copy of the official AKC Championship certificate unless otherwise stated per clause, addendum.

Buyer agrees to notify seller of any change in address while owning said dog. If said dog is to remain on co-ownership between buyer and seller then buyer agrees to provide seller a copy of all AKC required documentation regarding breeding of dog. Both parties shall agree on who said dog shall be bred to. The names, addresses and transfer of the offspring produced by said dog shall be made available to seller no later than 4 weeks after they are sold per rules of the American Kennel Club.
